Information provided by the donor: John David Hall was a fifth generation Cumberland Presbyterian. He shared the true story that at the time of his difficult birth, he almost died. His very ill mother had a dream or premonition that she was going to give birth to a son, that he would live, and that he would become a minister. John David said that his mother did not tell him about her dream until many years later, after he had become an ordained Cumberland Presbyterian minister. John David and his second wife Carol met in 1969 at Bethel College while he served as a psychology professor and Dean of Students and she was a freshman student. Their paths did not cross again until many years later while he was serving as Interim Pastor at the First Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Huntsville, AL, where Carol was serving in several leadership roles. They were married from August, 2006, until his death in August, 2020.
